DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 11/25/05 has been entered.

Claim Objections

2. Claim 4 is objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c), as being of improper dependent form for failing to further limit the subject matter of a previous claim. Applicant is required to cancel the claim(s), or amend the claim(s) to place the claim(s) in proper dependent form, or rewrite the claim(s) in independent form. Claim 4 depends on cancelled claim 3.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1, 4, 8 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Sri-Jayantha et al. (US006097565A) .

Re claims 1 and 8: Sri-Jayantha et al. teaches a recording apparatus as depicted in figure 3 that includes a discoid record (34) a head (36) a rotation shaft (located at center of the discoid) and control unit (12) such that the discoid contains servo information thereon (figure 5, 56). The control unit controls the position of the head based on position conversion information (stored in reserved sectors of the discoid) in advance (during disk manufacturing) in a manner as set forth by claim 1. Claim 1 additionally sets forth the predetermined area on the concentric orbits defined by the servo information in an area in which the position conversion information can be read out even when data has been written along the concentric orbits of which the center is the rotation shaft. It is clear from figures 3 and 5 that the user data is written along the same radial location with respect to the center of rotation of the disk as the reserved data sectors that contain the position conversion information that can be read. Also the claimed start-up limitation as now set forth in claim 1 is satisfied by column 3, lines 45-52. Claim 8 sets forth a method of starting up a recording apparatus that sets forth substantially the same limitations, although worded in a different manner as presented in claim 1 and is therefore satisfied by Sri-Jayantha et al. for similar reasons. Claim 11 contains similar limitations as discussed with respect to claim 1 and is satisfied by Sri-Jayantha et al for reasons provided. Claim 11 additionally refers to a plurality of pieces of position conversion information. This additional feature is deemed satisfied by at least column 3, lines 33-40. The limitations of claim 4 appears to be satisfied by the reserved data sectors as depicted in figure 3 that inter-dispersed between the servo sectors

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 2, 5-7, 9 and 10 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments filed 11/21/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues various features directed to "virtual tracks", "information to change tracks ... and recording apparatus" and "that the information used for the change cannot be overwritten by users". None of these features are set forth in the claims as presently amended.

Conclusion

7. This is a RCE of applicant's earlier Application No. 10/691,336. All claims are drawn to the same invention claimed in the earlier application and could have been finally rejected on the grounds and art of record in the next Office action if they had been entered in the earlier application. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL even though it is a first action in this case. See MPEP § 706.07(b). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no, however, event will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
